1. PURPOSE & APPLICATION

The AMP Capital Proxy Voting Policy (“the Policy”) sets out the standards that the AMP Capital Group of Companies (“AMP Capital”) uses to manage the proxy voting process. This Policy covers the proxy voting of AMP Capital portfolios holding publicly listed equities. Proxy voting is conducted for all countries where AMP Capital is able to vote, however while the policy remains the same the process may differ between regions.

This document is consistent with the Financial Services Council’s Standard 13 (Voting Policy, Voting Record and Disclosure).¹ The Policy has been approved by the Board of AMP Capital Investors Limited.

The Policy outlines that, except in special cases where AMP Capital feels abstention is required, we consider and vote all proxies for every resolution in respect of holdings beneficially owned by us in companies and other entities publicly listed in Australia, excepting entities for which we have no discretion to vote or in countries in which we are unable to vote.

In some instances, we may determine after appropriate consideration that as a matter of governance, it is more effective for us to abstain from voting.

2. OVERVIEW

The guiding principle of this Policy is that voting rights should be exercised and proxy votes should be cast in a way designed to ensure that proxies are voted in the best interests of clients².

Voting decisions are made on a case-by-case basis by an assessment of the matter at hand and after taking into consideration the likely effect on the performance of the portfolio.

AMP Capital recognises the strong link between good corporate governance and investment value. Our objective is to increase the return on funds invested. Within these parameters, we aim to enhance shareholder returns by discouraging disadvantageous corporate policies through discussion with company management and the exercise of voting power. Similarly, there are opportunities to encourage effective management through the endorsement given by positive votes.

Corporate governance relates to the procedures and processes according to which an organisation is directed and controlled. It is our view that the most appropriate corporate governance is achieved by applying generally accepted best-practice such as those detailed in the ASX Corporate Governance Principles and Recommendations document³ and the Financial Services Council’s Standard 23: Principles of Internal Governance and Asset Stewardship⁴.

The phrase “corporate governance” describes “the framework of rules, relationships, systems and processes within and by which authority is exercised and controlled within corporations. It encompasses the mechanisms by which companies, and those in control, are held to account.”⁵ The directors of a company act as agents of shareholders. In turn, the board appoints management to run the operations of the company. Effective corporate management is concerned with the efficient utilisation of the resources of a corporation to provide satisfactory returns to the shareholders.

AMP Capital believes that by adopting high standards in relation to corporate governance and social responsibility (environmental, employment and community relationships) companies can avoid potential damage to trade or reputation and therefore enhance and protect the long-term wealth creation of their shareholders.

Our corporate governance activity not only seeks to monitor the integrity of companies in which we invest and reduce the risk of corporate mismanagement and failure, but also seeks to protect the rights of all shareholders. As such, it is in the interest of both the companies in which we invest and our clients that we exercise our right to vote.

3. PRINCIPLES

AMP Capital is of the view that corporate governance and the exercise of voting rights are an important aspect of any investment decision process.

AMP Capital has an obligation to add value to the portfolios which clients have entrusted to AMP Capital to manage or advise upon. AMP Capital recognises that it can influence company policy on matters of corporate governance by virtue of shareholdings under our management. In accordance with industry practice, and the Financial Services Council guidelines in particular, we use that influence for the benefit of our clients.

When lodging voting instructions AMP Capital takes into account a broad range of best-practice governance principles, these include:

- Votes are cast in the best interests of our clients.
- AMP Capital will ensure voting instructions are lodged for all internally-managed portfolios unless clients of separately-managed portfolios have issued instructions to the contrary, or have specifically asked AMP Capital not to vote.
- As representatives of shareholders, it is our preference to support and vote in favour of a board or management recommendation. However, where a recommendation is not consistent with shareholder interests and/or our policies, the board or management recommendation will not be supported.
- We will not vote where AMP Capital has been excluded from doing so by the Corporations Act, or other laws, or in cases of conflicts of interest or duty which cannot be resolved lawfully or appropriately.
- On occasions where AMP Capital considers it appropriate, for both governance reasons and for our clients' interests, we may specifically abstain from voting on a resolution. On these occasions we aim to communicate directly with the company in regard to the particular reason the resolution was not considered supportable.
- Resolutions put to shareholders will be voted upon in a manner that is deemed most likely to protect and enhance the long-term value of a security as an asset to the portfolio. If a resolution is divisive or raises contentious issues, we will be guided by what is in the best interests of our clients.

ESG:

AMP Capital's commitment to ESG (Environmental, Social and Governance) matters is evident through the work carried out by the ESG team on behalf of our clients.

The ESG team researches a broad range of ESG issues, lodges considered proxy voting instructions and, where considered appropriate, engages with companies and/or industry bodies in regard to ESG concerns that may arise.

External mandates:

While we believe it is the portfolio manager's fiduciary responsibility to exercise voting rights on all resolutions, the manner in which this responsibility is discharged by AMP Capital may vary depending on whether the portfolio is internally or externally managed, and/or whether the shares held are Australian or international shares.

As part of the investment mandate for AMP Capital's externally managed portfolios, we authorise our investment managers to exercise voting rights on our behalf. We monitor the manner in which our votes are cast and reserve the right to override the external manager's vote where we consider it to be in our clients' best interests to do so.

AMP Capital recognises that there are differences in corporate governance expectations in different jurisdictions and will incorporate those we see appropriate, while still aiming to protect shareholder value.

Proxy Advice:

AMP Capital engages the services of proxy advisors to assist in gathering the information used to formulate and support voting decisions. Specifically, AMP Capital engages 'Ownership Matters' for information on Australian listed companies, 'ISS' for information on New Zealand companies and 'Glass Lewis' on International equities. In addition, we occasionally request further information from 'ISS' and/or 'CGI Glass Lewis'.⁶

Where we do engage the services of a proxy advisor we will consider the information and recommendations we receive, however, AMP Capital is not bound to follow the recommendations supplied by any proxy advisor.

4. DISCLOSURE
